Eczema awareness campaign

National Eczema Society

An awareness campaign to tackle skin problems among nurses has been launched by the National Eczema Society in a bid to encourage workers, and their employers, to seek correct guidance on managing eczema in the workplace. Entitled Six million reasons to support it highlights the fact that six million people in the UK suffer from eczema, which can be a huge cause of economic loss to employers and employees. A free booklet on contact dermatitis and eczema at work has been published entitled Working with eczema for people with eczema, as well as a guide for employers and occupational health workers entitled Contact dermatitis at work.
